SECTION COMMENTS:

Good athlete...shows good lateral movement and ability to scramble out of the pocket and make plays on the move. Can be a threat with his arm and legs. Prototypical size and build for a QB. Foot quickness allows him to slide away from rush.

SECTION COMMENTS:

Stanton seemed to mirror the Spartans' last two seasons with his play...very inconsistent. After the demoralizing Notre Dame loss, neither he, nor the team seemed the same. His concentration and confidence appeared to wane. To his credit, rallied the team to a record-setting come from behind effort against Northwestern, but doubts remain regarding his overall production, consistency, and mental disposition.

SECTION COMMENTS:

Textbook smart, but on field decisions are puzzling and come at inopportune times. Got rattled in second half of ND game and let things fall apart. Makes some bonehead decisions that detract from his physical skills and abilities.

SECTION COMMENTS:

Shows good functional strength, but gets nicked up a lot and has missed some playing time over the past couple seasons.

STRONG POINTS

Good size/build, fine arm strength and ability to make throws. Has good mobility to slide away from rush and can make plays. Pretty good at reading coverages. Smart, heady player who can inspire teammates. Has been productive and enjoyed some big games.

WEAKNESSES

Suffered through inconsistent senior season, evidenced by late game meltdown versus Notre Dame. Appeared to get rattled and let the pressure get to him. Had some subpar games against inferior competition (Indiana). Failed to show continued improvement from strong junior season. Got nicked up some. Underachieved.

SUMMARY

Stanton has all the skills to succeed, but something appears to be missing. Made some poor decisions, forced the ball into coverage. Wildly inconsistent with his production. He and team lost confidence as season wore on...question leadership abilities. Failed to show the type of ability he displayed during strong junior campaign. Still, with solid post-season effort, has a chance to develop. Fine athletic skills and strong arm. Worth considering 3rd round and could move up. My Holland code (which measures football intelligence, ability to retain/translate information, and statistical production) is B- (on A-F scale, A=1st round, etc.).
